

I'm not robot

Continue

Pdf to word online converter

Last updated October 12, 2020 The success of our time is largely dependent on the quality of our planning. In order not to miss anything, some prefer to create a list of upcoming tasks in the notebook, while others have long begun to use digital solutions. Calendar apps are some of the main tools you might want to use to organize your life and plan your time carefully. Many people have switched to specific tools; however, there are still those who do not use calendars every day. They may find some applications inconvenient to use, not functional, or expensive. In this article we are going to check out the best calendar apps to help you keep order. Before downloading you are undoubtedly aware there are all sorts of calendar apps available. Instead of sifting through hundreds of them, we've carefully selected the top 10 calendar apps you can get. In addition to glowing reviews from each of them, we considered the following aspects when creating this list: User Interface - The way you navigate the application should be smooth and simple. The buttons in the app should be clear, obvious and easy to navigate. Sync – Whether it's other calendar apps or other apps, syncing apps should be easy and improve your overall app experience. Additional features – Because there are so many calendar options, many of these apps offer additional features. These features make your apps stand out from other apps and provide a unique experience. 1. Any.do Calendar This calendar has direct integration with Any.Do To-Do List, giving you a unique tandem of two apps. In addition to the extended functionality, Cal Calendar is easy to use. Creating events is very simple and fast. Moreover, depending on the event name, the application automatically adds contacts and geolocation data to the post description. You can even import lists and entries from Any.do. Any.do is a great option for any type of user. This is very convenient and does not unduly complicate the display mode. Another good thing is that this tool is available for free, so you can use it without spending a dime on the software. Download Any.do Calendar here! 2. Google Google Calendar is the official calendar for Android devices, which has been tested by many users around the world. If you are now trying to get away from it, consider changing your mind. Since this app is installed by default on most Android devices, many users believe that there is nothing special about this program. They are wrong. Google has been updating its calendar for several years and is now in Material Design with advanced event features, direct integration with other Google services (for example, supports reminders and Google Now) and is exchange support. The program is very easy and will not cost a dime for you. That's good, isn't it? Download Google Calendar here. 3. Calendar Calendar is a new application. It works as a web app and for iOS and Android devices. It is a smart app that learns your contacts, schedule and tasks. It also helps you schedule and organize meetings according to available time intervals. The good thing about Calendar is that it allows you to sync with other calendars you use, such as Apple Calendar and Google Calendar. So you can manage all the calendars you have in one place. The calendar also provides an analysis of your meetings, giving you a clear picture of how you can improve your time management. Download the calendar: Meeting & Planning here. 4. Business Calendar Business Calendar is aimed at people who use their calendar for business purposes and business scheduling. It offers different modes with wide configuration options. The application gives the default view mode by month, and events can be marked in different colors. Display/sorting modes can be customized to suit your needs (by month, day, year or event). You can also set a multi-day display mode to see what the situation is like in the next few days. Scrolling up and down displays the month, and if you check a few days, they'll appear in more detail. Daily display mode offers hourly scheduling, and schedule mode provides a detailed schedule for a single event. The business calendar is a great tool for planning/planning cases, tasks and events. There is support for recurring events that can be configured with just a few clicks. After purchasing the software, you can use it to import and export other calendars, delete, copy, or move several events at once. The Android Business Calendar app may seem a bit chaotic, but it works fine and is easy to work with if you're playing with it for a while. The full version of the app is available for $4.99, but you can also find a free version for the app's test drive. Download the business calendar here. 5. aCalendar aCalendar opens our collection of the top 10 calendar apps available on the market today. With its attractive design, easy navigation and great functionality, it is one of the most popular calendar apps on our list. Some additional features include color schemes for each case type (48 colors to choose from), different types of shows, different widgets, moon phases, and more. Given the functionality, aCalendar is a reliable calendar application that has an easy-to-use interface with three display options. Side-to-side scrolling lets you switch between month, week, and day display modes. As you scroll down and up, you move around the calendar at intervals according to the selected display mode. In addition to the time scheduling function, syncs photos from contact lists or social networks to remind you of birthdays, anniversaries, or other special dates. It also supports NFC data transfer and full-screen widgets, making it easy to work with any data. The program is available for free, but also get even more features if you buy an extended version of the software for $4.99. Download aCalendar here. 6. DigiCal Calendar DigiCal Calendar is very similar to Cal Calendar in that the application focuses on designing more than its functionality. However, this does not mean that the application does not serve this purpose. With this calendar app, you can sync all calendars and view them in different ways. Along with the basic features, this program comes with support for Google Calendar, Outlook, and includes some unique and interesting features. You can match keywords to an image or set up a dark theme. The app can even show the weather forecast for three days. There are many other features that deserve the attention of people who really like to use the calendar app. Download DigiCal Calendar here. 7. SolCalendar SolCalendar can be called a universal application. It claims to be an all-in-one digital solution with basic calendar functionality combined with other advanced features such as weather forecast for a specific day. The app supports Google Calendar as well as tasks, widgets, lunar calendar and even Foursquare. Ci who are looking for a calendar app to cover only everything in its functionality, SolCalendar is a program to consider. There are many interesting things in this app; the program does an excellent job in all-in-one mode. SolCalendar test – the app is available for free. You can test it without purchasing the service. Download SolCalendar here. 8. IRL Event Social Network One of the most unique apps in this list is the IRL Event Social Network app. As you can guess from the name, the main purpose of this application is social networks. Unlike other social media platforms, you may find this platform to be Meetup.com. This is a site where you can connect with other people in your area who have similar interest. IRL is that while providing a convenient calendar to plan events and plan your day. Although this is an additional emphasis, you are missing many aspects of synchronization that other applications have in this list. Regardless, because of this huge social function, it is worth considering those who want to make more connections. Download the IRL Event Social Network here. 9. Today Calendar Today Calendar is one of the most hip and candidate calendars on our list. The solution was one of the first to really embrace Material Design and remains one of the few that adhere to a neat style. The calendar app offers bold colors, simple controls and great functionality. It's not as heavy an app as many others; will not eat the entire memory of the device. If you're not looking for something complicated and too functional, A calendar is what you need. You can always test the app before paying for it – the program is available for free. Download the Calendar today here. 10. Timepage Timepage is an intuitive calendar app that will manage your time in a way that other calendar apps can't. It offers the same features you'd expect from other calendar apps: the ability to record events, notifications and reminders, the weather, and the duration of your ride to a specific event. However, the application goes beyond these features in two ways. The first way is that while the app sends notifications, it also has reminders about what's next. This extra time can allow you to prepare and make changes on the day, if necessary. The second feature – which is more important – is the heat map when you go to see the full view of the calendar. This heat map indicates what days you are busiest and other days when you are more casual. This heat map provides a quick glance to determine what days are good to add more events and other tasks. Download the timepage here. Our Verdict Search for the right app to manage different calendars and plan your busy day can sometimes turn into a band of obstacles. Most of us need flexible applications that can be easily used to manage our difficult schedule. The application should have all the necessary time planning functions and be intuitive. Stylish design and unlimited compatibility also matter. It is not always easy to find such a program. The above digital calendar solutions fall into the category worth using. They are modern, multifunctional, easy and easy. Choose the one you like! More productivity apps for better time management Such photo credit: Disconnect by unsplash.com unsplash.com